PAOLO'S EARNING DISCLAIMER FOR NEW STUDENTS

The crypto market is highly volatiles, and this is one reason why I do not guarantee the same results for everyone, and why despite having an extremely high personal success rate with trading – it is not something I am offering to do for others. Alternatively, I have developed a set of rules for trading and by following these rules you will have a much higher chance of success.

Part of trading cryptocurrency is managing your inner states and emotions and following the process. This should go without saying – but please do not trade with money you are not willing to lose – as trading cryptocurrency can be risky. I am not a financial adviser and this is not financial advise. This is simply how I consistently make profits with my trades.

Just because some of my students are making substantial amount of money doesn't mean or imply the same will happen to you. In business, and in life, there are no guarantees – and there are many factors to one's success.

One of the keys ingredients in my experience for success is consistency. If you are consistent and a diligent learner and follow some key rules, capital preservation strategies – you will be able to learn to make a successful trade, which you can replicate time and time again.

Please also realize money is not everything, it is a magnifier. It magnifies who you already are. I have found that happiness grows when you are able to make an impact in others life, and living this earth a better place then when you arrived.

Success comes from you at the end of the day. Successful trading is developed through practicing and follow rules based on fundamentals and technical analysis. All successful traders have failures and bad days, the main difference is that they don't give up. One bad trade does not mean they quit. It means they keep going, and in most case (in a bull market) buy the dip.

The most successful traders ask questions when they are losing money, or are simply not sure why their strategy is not working, and analyze the situation and get better by learning from mistakes – as often we learn more from our own mistakes than the mistakes of others.

Sincerely,

– Paolo Tiberi
